Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index

Overview

This section constitutes only a brief overview of the Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index. The index is described in more detail under “The Underliers — Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index” in the underlier supplement referred to in “About This Index Supplement” below.

The Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index (current Bloomberg symbol: “NDXT Index”), which we also refer to in this index supplement as the “index,” is designed to measure the performance of the technology companies in the Nasdaq-100 Index[®]. The Nasdaq-100 Index[®] is designed to measure the performance of 100 of the largest Nasdaq-listed non-financial stocks.

Each issuer of a stock in the index is classified as a Technology company according to the Industry Classification Benchmark (ICB). The index is a “price return” index and is an equal weighted index. The index has a base date of February 22, 2006, with a base value of 1000.00, as adjusted, and is calculated, maintained and published by Nasdaq, Inc.

We have derived all information contained in this index supplement regarding the index from publicly available information. Additional information about the index is available on the following website: indexes.nasdaqomx.com/Index/Overview/NDXT. We are not incorporating by reference the website or any material it includes in this index supplement.

Historical Performance

The graph below shows the daily historical closing levels of the index from January 2, 2019 through October 1, 2024. As a result, the below graph does not reflect the global financial crisis which began in 2008, which had a materially negative impact on the price of most equity securities and, as a result, the level of most equity indices. We obtained the closing levels in the graph below from Bloomberg Financial Services, without independent verification. You should not take the historical levels of the index as an indication of its future performance.

Annualized Return and Annualized Volatility

The following table provides the annualized return and annualized volatility of the index for each applicable period ended October 1, 2024. Annualized return represents the average rate of return per annum, calculated as the geometric average of the percentage change of the index during the applicable time period. Annualized volatility is a measure of the historical variability of returns, and is calculated as the square root of 252 multiplied by the sample standard deviation of the daily logarithmic returns of the index during the applicable time period. You should not take any annualized return or annualized volatility information regarding the index as an indication of its future performance.

	Annualized Return	Annualized Volatility
1 Year	28.88%	23.51%
3 Years	5.75%	31.18%
5 Years	16.74%	31.90%
Since January 2, 2019	19.21%	30.87%

Comparative Performance Data

Index Performance Compared to its Parent Index and a Select Broad-Based Stock Index

For comparative purposes, the graph below shows the performance, from January 2, 2019 through October 1, 2024, of the Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index (in black), the Nasdaq-100 Index[®] (in gray) and a broad-based equity index, the S&P 500[®] Index (in blue). The S&P 500[®] Index seeks to track a representative sample of 500 companies in leading industries of the U.S. economy. Unlike the Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index, neither the Nasdaq-100 Index[®] nor the S&P 500[®] Index seeks to track the performance of companies in the technology sector.

For comparative purposes, each of the Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index, the Nasdaq-100 Index[®] and the S&P 500[®] Index have been adjusted to have a closing level of 100.00 on January 2, 2019 by dividing the applicable closing level on each day by that index's closing level on January 2, 2019 and multiplying the quotient by 100.00.

The daily historical closing levels of the indices used to create this graph were obtained from Bloomberg Financial Services, without independent verification. You should not take this graph or the historical closing levels of the indices used to create this graph as an indication of the future performance of any index, including the Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index, or the correlation (if any) between the level of the Nasdaq-100 Technology Sector Index and the levels of the Nasdaq-100 Index[®] or the S&P 500[®] Index.
